Place: Auchy, date Sunday 2nd April 1916.

Place: Trenches AUCHY LEFT Sub-Section Date
Monday 3rd April 1916.

"Work went on hard in the left company, which in places was beginning to reach a normal condition of repair. The enemy shelled the support line with field guns for a few minutes in the morning & from 4 p m till about 6 p m. No casualties & only small damage done to the trenches. Last night patrolling was done specially with a view to finding a suitable place for a raid against enemy's trenches, however wire was found to be very strong & deep at points visited."

Date: Tuesday 4th April 1916

"Work continued as usual. Our Stokes guns were active & called forth heavy retaliation with by field guns at various times during the day which stopped working parties for a time. Last night a special patrol found that the selected spot for a raid was covered by wire of considerable depth in dead ground, they brought back a piece of

“The enemy shelled us with field guns intermittently throughout the day, chiefly in retaliation for our trench mortars which appear to cause considerable annoyance.

LT LAING took out a patrol at about 3.30 a m this morning & has taken up a position in a shell hole in the disused trench about 20 yds from the German parapet. He has remained there all to-day. ---- LIEUT LAING returned with his party to-night having obtained valuable information regarding habits of enemy sentries, hour of standing to arms & method of carrying it out, enemy snipers & machine guns. The patrol consisted of LIEUT LAING, --CPL TRIPP,- CPL. CAIRNS,- L/CPL ROACH. (This patrol was afterwards complimented by the Army Commander & Divisional Commander.)”

Place High wood; date 20th July 1916:

“Bn. started to advance on HIGH WOOD at 2 a.m. moving forward 1300 yards under cover of artillery barrage. 5th Sco. Rifles were on our Right.

At 3.25 a.m. barrage lifted and Battn went into the wood. A & B Companies got held up by rifle & machine gun fire from the edge of the wood part of C and the whole of D got in easily and in a short time worked right across the wood. At about 11 a.m. the Germans shelled the wood heavily and things having come to a standstill, re-enforcements were asked for. At about 2.45 p.m. the R. Welch Fusiliers came up. Shortly after this the Germans retired from the N.W. corner of the wood and we occupied practically the whole of it. At dusk the enemy bombarded very heavily with 5.9s.

At about midnight the Queens & K.R.R.C. arrived and relieved us. The Bn withdrew to MAMETZ WOOD arriving there about 4 A.M.

It is interesting to note that 2nd Lieutenant RM Laing’s initials are wrong in the transcript of the diary.

The London Gazette of 27th July 1916 records the reason that Robert received the military Cross as “2nd Lt. Robert MacLeod Laing, 4th (attd. 1st Bn.) Sco. Rif. For conspicuous gallantry on patrol duty. With three men he remained for 17 hours in a hole inside the enemy’s wire and within a few yards of his trenches, gathering useful information. At dusk he was discovered and fired on, but, retiring a short distance, he bombed the enemy and finally withdrew in the darkness.”

Unfortunately Robert's records cannot be found and we therefore do not know his date of enlistment. On checking the Army Lists for the Cameronians from 1914 to 1918, no trace of Robert could be found.
